The Injured Husband and His Gun.

TWO SUPPOSED MURDERERS ARRESTED.

Dawson After McAuliff's Scalp—Tragedy on a Train.

Special to the APPEAL

The Injured Husband Kills.

New York, Sept. 9.—About 10:30 last night Captain Keenlie Hayner of a canal boat lying on the wharf front in Jersey City, shot and instantly killed Captain Michael Adams, the master of another canal boat, and then shot his wife. Hayner suspected that Adams was intimate with Mrs. Hayner, and last night, to satisfy himself, he followed her ashore and saw her meet Adams in the shadow of a big coal trestle on the wharf.

A moment later Hayner sprang at the couple and fired four shots point blank at Adams, every bullet taking effect. Adams sank to the ground dead. Captain Hayner then sent a bullet crashing through his wife's left breast and she fell beside Adams. After this he went directly to the police headquarters and delivered himself to the police. Mrs. Hayner's wound was pronounced fatal.

The train men and passengers attempted to restrain him, but could not do so. Then N. W. Harris, another cowboy, tried his hand, but Lowe got angry and started after Harris. Harris ran into the car with Lowe in pursuit, flourishing his revolver, which he suddenly brought to a level and fired, killing Harris. Lowe was arrested. The tragedy caused great excitement among the passengers.

Athletes of the Capitol.

Nevada's State officials are taking considerable care of themselves by devoting a portion of their spare time to healthful exercise. Gov. Colcord, Attorney Gen. Torreyson and Deputy Controller Holbrook, all swing Indian clubs like gymnasts. Sec. of State Gray and Surveyor General Jones arise with the early morn and do garden work, the former grafting trees and running ditches, and the latter weeding flower beds and swinging an old fashioned scythe.

Supreme Judge Bigelow and Deputy Treasurer Richards flit into the country and over to the gun club "lodge" to hunt ducks, while Lieut. Gov. Ponce attend annual encampments and Legislature sessions. All in all Carson has a pretty healthy crowd of politicians in her capitol who, if they constantly exercise and keep healthy, will never feel the effects of overwork.
